

An Adventure to Mars!

By Mahaliah

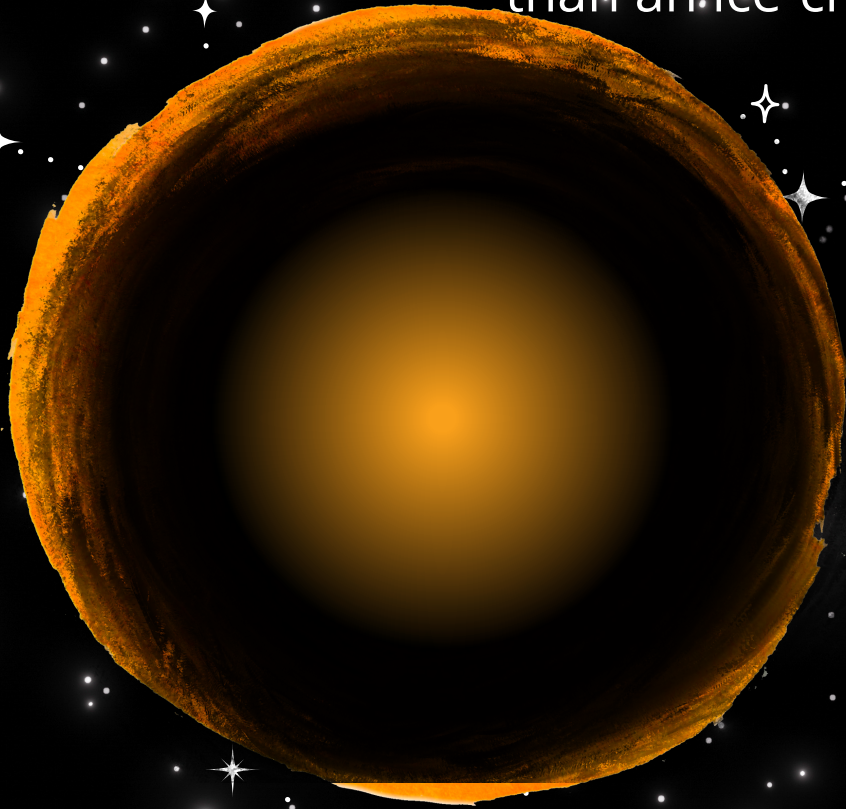

I dedicate this book to my friends Evie and Mitchell because they have helped me in so many different ways and they have always been there for me when I need them.

I also dedicate this book to my Mum and Dad because they have loved me and cared for me ever since I was born.

★ WHOOSH! Bloop was out exploring space when suddenly he got sucked into a black hole! It was very dark and colder than an ice-cream!

Bloop shielded his eyes as he exited the black hole. Where was he? This planet that he had appeared on was bright red like an apple and very, very windy.

It was Mars!

All of a sudden Bloop saw something move in the distance.

“I wonder what that is?” Bloop thought to himself. As the object came closer Bloop saw that it was a butterfly!

Bloop remembered what his mother had always told him. 'You don't always have to be friends with everyone, but you always have to be friendly to everyone.' So Bloop walked over and introduced himself.

"Hello! My name is Bloop! What's yours?"

The butterfly answered, "My name is Frankie and I am investigating life on other planets. Also would you like a Mars Bar?"

“ Can you please help me find my way back to my family on Saturn? I somehow travelled here through a black hole and I’m not sure how to get back home .” Bloop asked.

“Of course I’ll help you get back! I wonder what we can use to get you home?”

As Frankie was about to land on the ground, Bloop yelled, "Watch out for the mouse!"

The mouse was delighted and appreciated that Bloop had stopped her from being sat on. Pipsqueak, the mouse asked whatever could she do to repay him.

Bloop answered,

“Can you please help me get back to my family on Saturn?”

“Sure!” said Pipsqueak. “There are lots of old rockets that have crashed down on Mars. I’m sure we could build a new rocket out of some of those old rockets.”

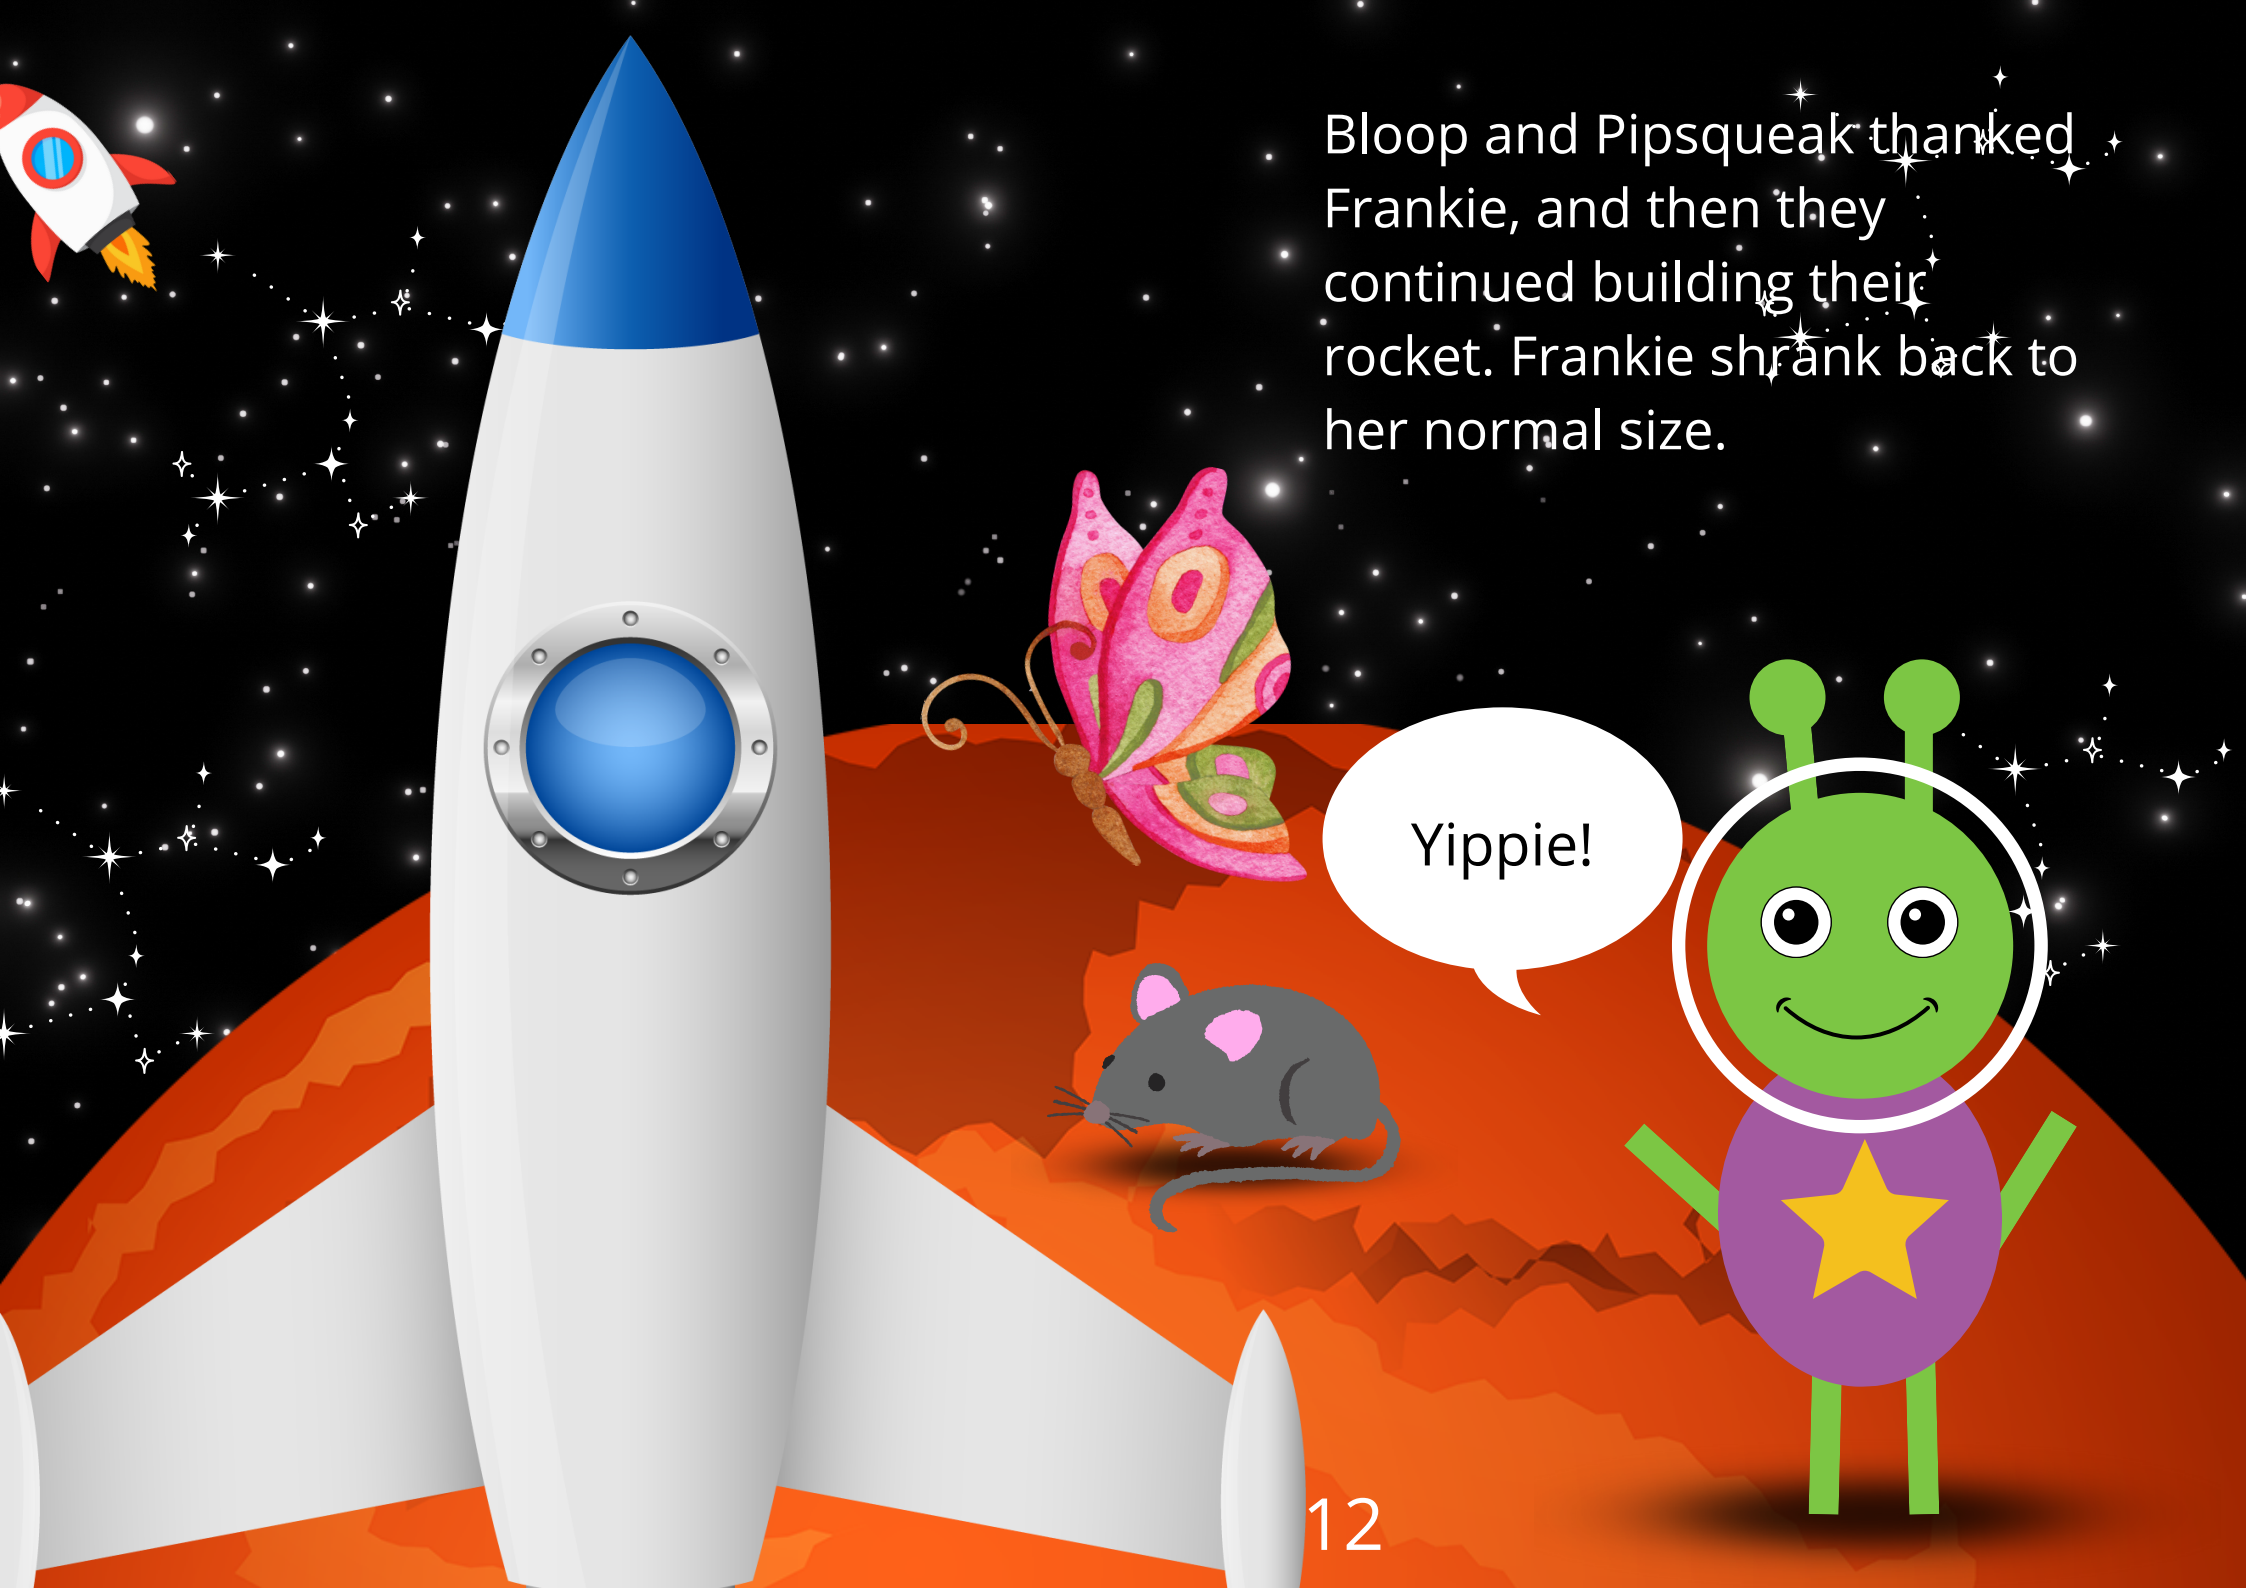

When Bloop, Pipsqueak and Frankie were halfway through building the spacecraft from the old rockets, it got too tall and they couldn't reach it any more!

"It's okay!" said Frankie. "I have a special power."

Right before their eyes, Frankie grew bigger and taller until she could reach the top of the rocket!

Bloop and Pipsqueak thanked Frankie, and then they continued building their rocket. Frankie shrank back to her normal size.

Yippie!

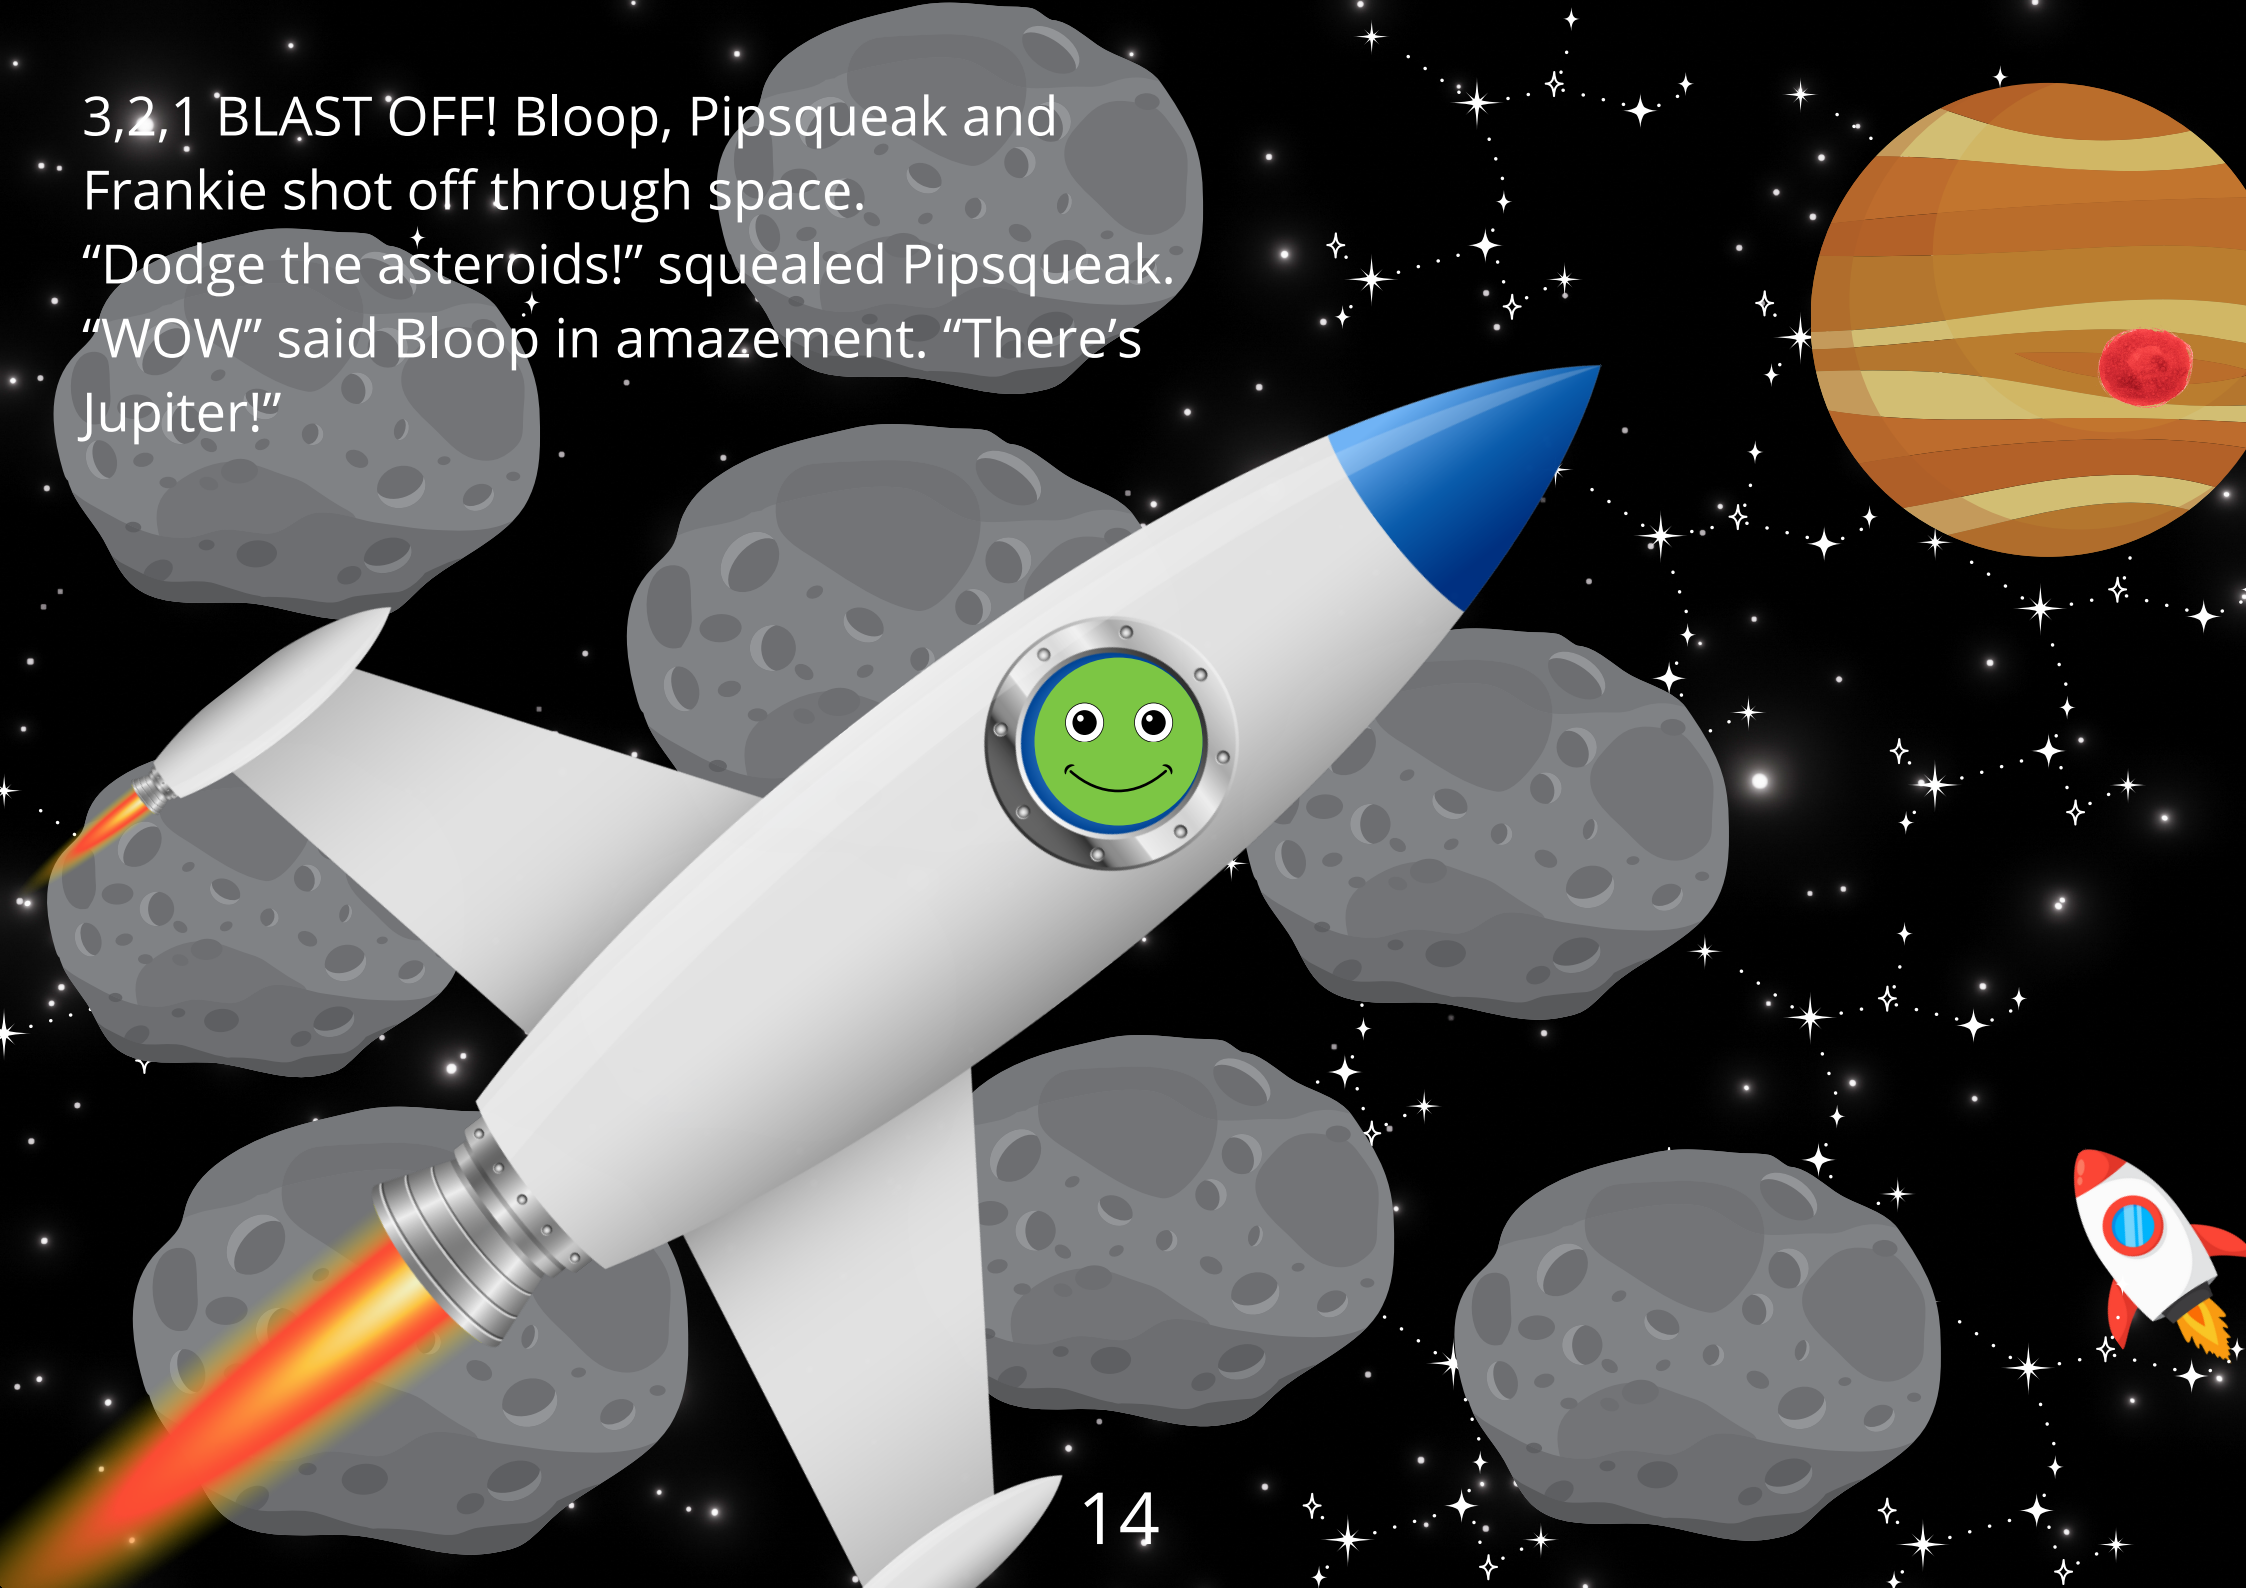

"Well it's time for me to go home." said Bloop.

"Wait! Can we come with you?" asked Pipsqueak.

"Of course you can!" said Bloop excitedly. "I'd love you to come!"

3,2,1 BLAST OFF! Bloop, Pipsqueak and Frankie shot off through space.
"Dodge the asteroids!" squealed Pipsqueak.
"WOW" said Bloop in amazement. "There's Jupiter!"

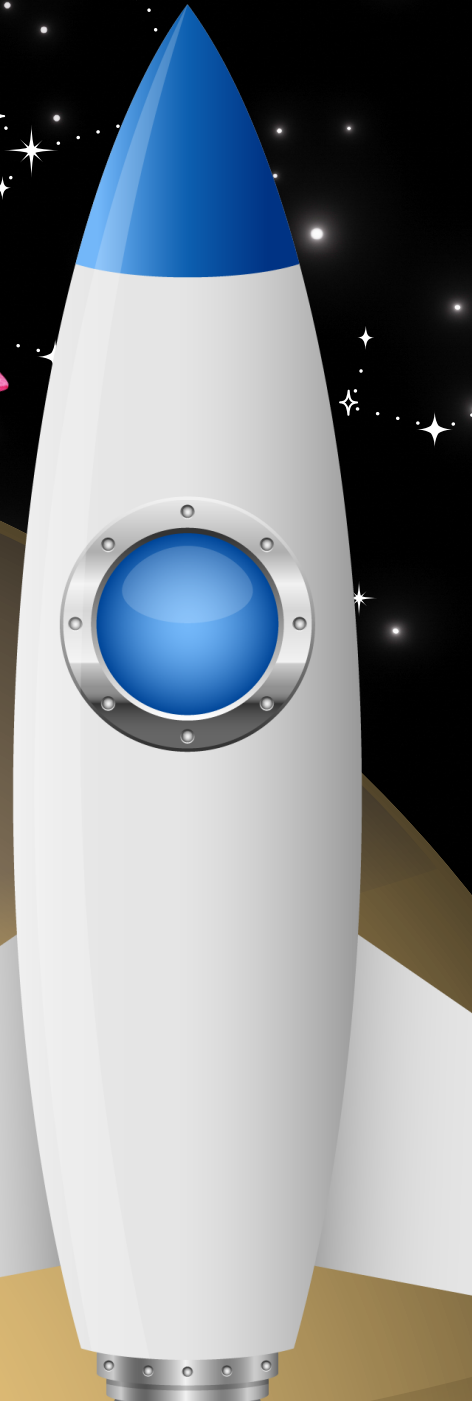

"Look at all of these comets!" said Frankie. Comets were streaking past the rocket ship. It was one of the most beautiful sights the three friends had ever seen.

“There’s Saturn! Frankie can you please land over there?” said an excited Bloop.

As the rocket doors opened Bloop's mum rushed out to greet him. "There you are!" said Bloop's mum. "We've been looking everywhere for you!"

"Hi Mum! These are my friends. Frankie and Pipsqueak." Bloop said.
"Why don't you all come and have a sleepover with Bloop?" said Bloop's mum excitedly.

"We would love that!" said an overjoyed Pipsqueak and Frankie.

Later that night, Bloop and his friends were snuggled up in bed talking about their amazing adventure.
