

Brian's Friend

By Eddie

This book is dedicated to my parents for letting go to school otherwise this book
would't exist.

Brian the alien is looking for a new friend because he feels lonely, but none of the other aliens want to be friends with him.

So off Brian goes to Josh. Josh knows everything about space and planets, he should know where to find a new friend.

Brian asks Josh where to find a friend, Brian asks "What planet should i look on?".
"You should explore on Mercury. Closest to the Sun, go on Brian your journey has now begun.

Off goes Brian to Mercury but finds nothing but rocks and craters. So then back goes Brian to go see Josh and tell him that it felt boring and that no one was there.

“Maybe try boiling Venus the hottest planet ever and look down, it's actually close to Mercury.”

Off flies Brian in his spaceship going to Venus. But yet still finds nothing except a very hot surface that fries his feet.

“I reckon you should try Jupiter it’s ENORMOUS. Biggest of them all, it might take a while to explore it because you are quite small”

Brian flies off to explore Jupiter it feels like forever, at least he didn't get sucked into the storm. Brian finds no one so just leaves again.

“Hmm URANUS! Would be way too COLD!” Josh mumbles “Try Saturn. It's impossible to miss because of its massive rings. Plus if there's no one there check the moons after all it's nicknamed the Moon King.”

Brian thanks Josh and flies to Saturn
but still finds nothing not even on its moons.

“Try Neptune it's a gassy ocean but hurry up because its so far away it's like it's moving in slow motion” says Josh 10.

Brian flies off extra fast to try and find Neptune.

Brian cant find Neptune but did find a big blue planet.

“Hmmm what did Josh say would be too cold Urane?
under? URANUS!” before Brian could leave to find Neptune
agian he was stuck.

Finally Brian got to Neptune. Brian saw Neptune also had a storm, way smaller than Jupiter's though. Neptune was so cold and bitter just like Uranus.

He swims and flies all around to find nothing, not even on its MOONS!

Brian flies back to Josh saying "It's no use." Then "AH HA." Josh shouts "I figured it out! Try Earth the planets pretty rare with lots of life because of its fresh air. Don't worry brain you won't be alone there has to be someone that calls Earth HOME!"

Off Brian goes excited as ever with lots of hope because of Earth will he find a friend?

Off Brian goes flying with a smile

Lets see if he finds a friend.

Brian crashes into a tree right next to a house its so green and colourful.

He jumps out and sees a HUMAN!

Brian and the human
don't know what to say but then the human introduces himself.

*Then Brian introduces himself as well
and John showed him around.*

Brian is so happy he found a friend and thanks Josh a lot Brian and John.

John wants to show Brian so many new things.

John and Brian have lots of fun and where best friends they went to the park and Brian tells him Mars they had fun almost every day because they were best friends.

One day
Brian shows
John Mars.
John's never seen Mars
before he thinks it's awesome.

About The Author

I am a Australian senior primary school student. My name is Eddie and here's some things about me.

In my free time i like to play with friends and make them laugh. I like to draw and talk to my family.

My dreams for the future are to make people happy and laugh i want to raise mony for charities

I was inspired to make this book because i want to raise money for a library for the communities who cant already afford one.

Brian's Friend is a story about Brian the alien looking for a new friend because none of the other aliens want to be his friend. Come with Brian on a journey through space hopping from planet to planet to see whether Brian finds a friend.

