

Steward's Garden

Written and illustrated by: Maraam Imtiaz

To my Mom

Once upon a time there was a boy named Steward, he lived with his Mother in a Rose cottage near the sea. Stewards Mother loved the environment, and Steward was a good boy and loved his Mother too. So one day, while Stewards Mother was away at work, it took even harder work to make a flower garden for her. When he was done he bought some seeds and then planted some in it.

Then when his Mother came back she was so surprised, "Oh, look at this garden, it's just beautiful!" she said. Then Steward came and said, "Suprise!" "Do you like my flower garden?"

"Well, I just absolutely love it!" replied Mother, The flower garden was very beautiful and they watered the flowers every morning and evening.

A few weeks later, Steward's flowers started disappearing. Each night when Steward and his Mother were sleeping, somebody took two-three flowers from their garden. They knew because some of the flowers were unplugged from the soil.

The next day there were only five flowers left. Then Steward couldn't handle it! "Mother! at night I will spy the garden!" shouted Steward.

And then Mother thought it was too dangerous but she said "Yes, you can go, but stay in the garden, ok?"

"Ok Mother" replied Steward

So next night it was raining, though it rains everyday so he wore his rain coat and went out into the garden.

He waited for a long time, so long that he almost fell asleep. He really wanted to find the thief, so he called Mother to do it for him, but she only agreed to one hour. After that She woke Steward up and then he went out. He waited for a long time until he saw a shadow moving near the entrance of the garden!

Steward knew it was the thief so he checked it out, he thought it was the thief who was crawling through the bushes but it was only just a turtle! Steward was confused where the real thief was, he knew he saw the shadow! He was sad and tired and really unhappy.

Steward returned back home until he just realized the turtle was the thief because, turtles eat lettuce and carrots! (And sometimes other plants!). He immediately went out and got the turtle and told his Mother all about it. His mother agreed to keep the turtle as his pet and the flower garden was all safe now.

The Forest

I was interested about this book because my mother likes the environment so I made this just for her. I liked the environment too. I like the people who help the earth stay clean and safe.

Steward lived with his Mother in a Rose Cottage near the sea. His Mother loved the environment a lot and he loved the environment too, so he surprised her with a flower garden. Steward was a very good boy and helped the environment.
