

The Grateful Boy

by Elijah Matthew

This book is dedicated to the children all around the world who are living around poor environments.

In the humongus city of New York,
there lived a yound 7 year-old boy named John.

John lived with Dad in a dirty, trashy alleyway, him and his dad always had no money

Him and his dad spent most of his time in the streets begging
for money

A photograph of a rainy street at night. In the foreground, a circular manhole cover is visible on the wet pavement, with water splashing around it. The background shows a blurred street scene with parked cars, trees, and warm yellow streetlights. The entire image is framed by a dashed grey border.

On the 4th of November, John and his dad woke up to rain and thunder.

Wow!

This is John's first time seeing rain, he was filled with awe, but on his dad's side things were not so good.....

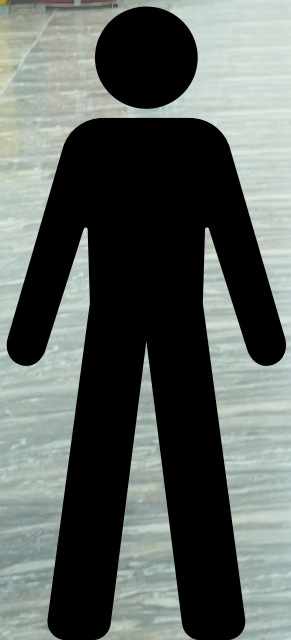

John's dad started feeling sick!
John knew what to do, he brought his dad to the hospital

When John arrived he asked the doctors if he can do the check-up but they all said 'no' due to his poor condition.

NO!

But one doctor stood out, his name was doctor Nelly he was willing to do the check-up for free!

John was estatic, and after a few hours, John's dad was fine!

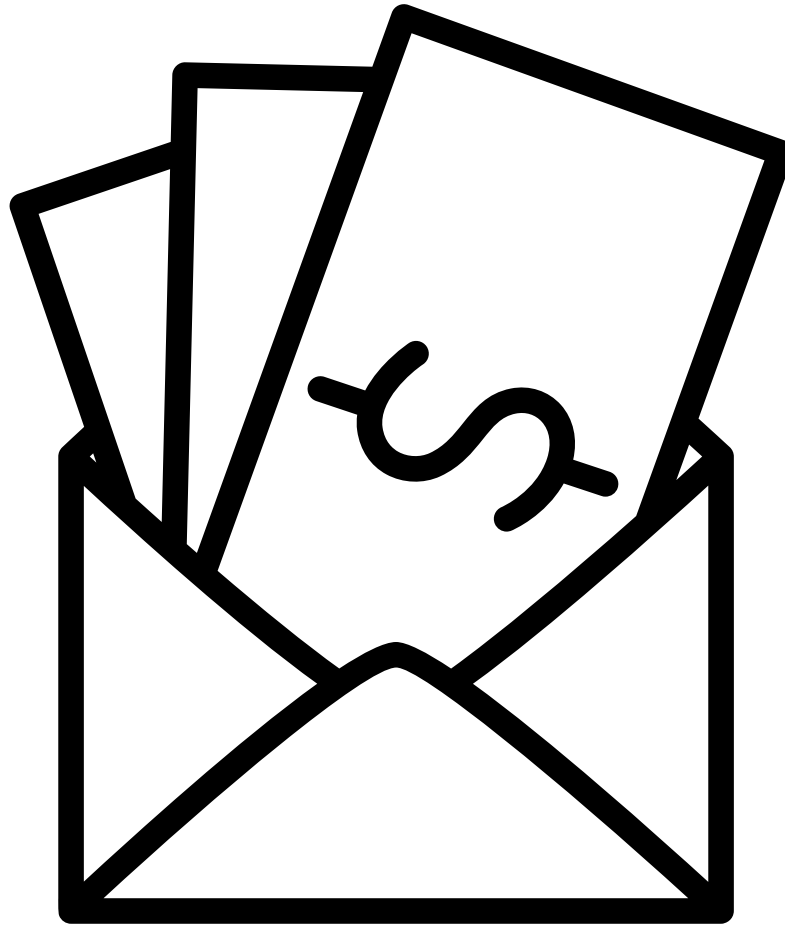

When John was leaving,
Dr. Nelly said, "Hey! Take this!"

TAKE THIS!

It was an envelope filled with money, John and his dad were so grateful!

Dr.Nelly said "Come back here if you need anything!"

Ok!
