

The Music School

On Thetford Bypass, three music schools have been spotted. Nobody recognized that the music schools had been cursed. The well-known music school Raises Your Voice has decided to shut down operations. Now read what happened next.

A music school was established. Thetford Bypass in France was home to the Cathedral Phantoms Music School. It was a haunted institution. There had been two more music schools nearby. Their respective names were Belfry Bats Music School & Gibbs Tarantulas Music School. Unfortunately, no one realized these music schools were haunted, although everyone knew the bypass was. One driver witnessed the 1930s automobile pass through and then vanish during the incident on Thetford Bypass. The bypass was not constantly toured, and the music schools were abandoned. There were several more music child phenomena, but they did not reach the media attention, and the three-music school became haunted by the music children's spirits. Raise Your Voice was the name of a non-haunted music school. The music school was closed, and the students were dispersed among the three music schools. A couple of children dreamed of establishing a band, and thus they enrolled in Cathedral Phantoms Music School. Eddie Jessup was a music lecturer at Cathedral Phantoms Music School. He was a cool professor, but something strange about him was that he could play every musical instrument without learning. Nevertheless, thus every pupil assumed that it was a unique ability. Every other day, something peculiar emerged: a group of young lads that wanted to start a band, which comprised of eight children, was accompanied by a child, and Eddie Jessup, the professor, was unavailable. This was the commencement of paranormal events at the music school. In the music school, there was a student and she behaved like a normal girl and the group of children thought to take her in their group music. Her name was Godzilla Collymore. The day she entered their band and their band room one by one everybody started to be sick. Everyday - Everynight when the sunset she was never seen after that time every day. When she was not seen there were not a positive vibe there were negative vibes, when she was near to anyone at that time also there were not at all good or positive vibes there were negative vibes. It continued for 5-6 months after that the children felt like this is not at all normal, they informed the head of the music school "Sir we are the group of children which wanted to make a band in this there are eight children but we felt like that we a more person for our band so we took a girl from this music school named Gonzila Collymore, the when she stays in our band group room the rooms vibes are not good at all and everyday - everynight after the sunset she is not seen in the day after that time, this going on from 5-6 months, please help us sir” Maggie the head of group to the head of the music school as you all know that the music school is possessed so everyone in that music school is not real its all spirits else the children who came from the other unhaunted music school so the head of the school is also not real he is also a spirit. “Child its normal there is nothing to worry this is normal in our music school, this is a ritual of our music school that any of the student of our music school- that child which has firstly come in our school not a child that have come from another school have not to follow it”. Head of the school to Maggie. The children didn’t know that this school is possessed and so they believed that this is true what the head of the school. It continued. Some days later, when Maggie came back from the restroom, when she was going up stairs to the first floor to her group band room there were five floors in the music school, while going to the first floor she heard very creepy sound coming of the second, third, fourth and fifth floor, she was scared but some how she went to every floor while saying “Who’s there, Who’s there”, when she reached the fifth floor a group member Zen saw her going, in the morning he searched for Maggie every where she was not there. Every night some ghostly experiences were followed by the spirits of Maggie and Gonzila. After 2 months Zen told to everyone in the group that he saw Maggie going to the floor on the before day when she was lost. The ghostly experiences that were followed they were by the spirits of Maggie and Gonzila”. After hearing it all the members of the group left the music school including Zen. Till that time Every one in the group learnt the instruments which they wanted to learn. So, everybody thought that they are the specialist of that instruments which they learnt, everyone left the group..... After 20 years they all became united and made a band named The love of Music.
