

THE STORY OF ELIZABETH

Written by Alex.S

This book is dedicated to Elizabeth great grandmother.

Elizabeth was on an old cranky boat, the boat stank of dead fish and it was so slow but Elisabeth was desperately trying to think of Alexandria

The weather in Alexandria was actually very beautiful and warm. The funny thing was that everyone had bought stuff for winter but they never needed to use it because it was never cold enough.

Elizabeth tried to think of the positives in her life like getting off the school bus to see her parents and the food she adored . Altogether her favourite food was definitely the classic Alexandrian liver and sausages

An illustration of three children standing on a wooden pier overlooking a vast blue ocean under a clear sky. On the left, a girl with long black hair, wearing a yellow t-shirt and black shorts, has a sad expression. In the center, a boy with short black hair, wearing a yellow t-shirt and black shorts, is sitting on the pier with a sad expression. On the right, a girl with curly black hair, wearing a green dress, has a surprised or shocked expression. The text is overlaid on the scene in white font.

Even though Elizabeth came with her mother and father she was trying to occupy herself with her own thoughts because she was very young and scared.

Although her life before the boat was decent it felt depressing because of the darkness throughout all of winter.

The calmness of the boat started to change as it became aggressive from the tides.

As Elizabeth started to feel seasick, she thought about why she left.

She thought of the government kicking them out because they weren't Arabic like them. She remembered them threatening to kill them because they refused to leave and she also thought of her leaving her family there.

Then she thought what would happen to them? How would they get out? So many thoughts came into Elizabeth's head.

With all of Elizabeth's thoughts she got so tired she ended up drifting into sleep and having a dream about her new country.

In Elizabeth's dreams she thought of making friends with the people of Australia and how they would treat her.

When she arrived in Australia she was greeted by the kids and she felt amazing to be away from all the stuff that was happening in Egypt. Just before they got off the boat her mother said, "We are free Elizabeth, we are now free".

About the author

My name is Alex I am 12 years old and I live in Australia Melbourne. someone that inspired me to make this book was Elizabeth who told me this story. what I do in my spare time is usually just relax i can get really tired after doing something that took me a while. one of my dreams is to be a famous kid book writer and this is only the start.

The story of Elizabeth is a valuable lesson because of how her life changed from one thing. the story Elizabeth is broken up into two parts. where she sadly has to leave her homeland Egypt. but now she has left into a much better and safer home Australia. and the special thing is that Elizabeth will be safe because if she immigrates again [for some reason] she will have experience. The story of Elizabeth is a fantastic True story of how Elizabeth came from Egypt but now lives in Australia
