

A close-up photograph of a jaguar's face, looking directly at the camera. The jaguar has a distinctive spotted pattern on its fur. It is surrounded by tall, green grass. The lighting is somewhat dim, giving the scene a natural, slightly somber feel.

The Jaguar and the Tortoise

By Rithwik M8

There was once a kind and honest Jaguar named Ronny. He was the king of that Jungle. There was a big tortoise named Blue. He was not like other animals, once he had helped a sage and the sage gave him super fast speed and a strong body. No one could ever catch him nor kill him. Every one was scared of him. Once when Ronny went hunting, Blue saw him and decided to kill him. Ronny wanted to kill him for years because of troubling his animals. They started their fighting when Ronny got a hit and flew far away. He landed in a sages den when he saw that the sage was about to be killed by a ferocious rhinoceros. Ronny scared away the rhinoceros. The sage thanked Ronny and gave him the powers which Blue had. Ronny understood that sage versus from which Blue got his powers. He ran very fast and got to see that Blue was killing animals. Ronny got high tempered and started attacking Blue. Both of them began to fight ferociously. Ronny bite of Blues shell with one bite which ended Blues life.

Moral- Fight with the ones who you are capable of standing with

-Rithwik M&S

Thank You